LOW-PRICED STOCKS

In proportion as the supply of money, foreign and domestic, becomes more abundant, and consequently cheaper, so values measured by money must advance. This elementary principle applies most directly to stocks. The best class of stocks are all selling at high prices, such stocks are all selling at high prices, such as Northwest, Delaware and Lackawanna, and Lake Shore, and as money continues to accumulate, it will go into stocks selling at lower prices, such as the Grangers, until they are absorbed by the investor, taken out of the market and held for the income they pay, while the operator on a margin, who in a market like the present buys one week and sells the payt at an advance of 3 to 5. operator on a margin, who in a marget like the present buys one week and sells the next at an advance of 3 to 5 per cent., will seek the lower-priced stocks. These stocks will then advance and show the highest prices they have ever recorded.

REACTION IN STOCKS.

Marked Falling Off in Activity After Midday Shaking Out-Wheat Advances-Corn and Oats Rise-Pork

NEW YORK, August 23 .- There was nothing in the general situation, either in the political or the business world, to account for the reaction that took piace in stocks to-day. The market was simply over-bought, and was subjected to a process of testing which, whether designed to do so or not, inevitably reduced prices to the true basis of value. Yesterday's heavy profit-taking on the part of some of the powerful interests which had been buying stocks in the confidence that they would advance in price led the way naturally to to-day's move-It became apparent at the opening that the strong support of the leaders had been withdrawn. In the Grangers, even the outside buying, which has so eagerly absorbed these stocks for some time past. showed a marked diminution. There were even selling orders in the commission houses for outside account, thus showing that a large part of the recent public interest has been for speculative account, but the outside speculative public failed to show the aggressive confidence in their holdings recently manifested by the powerful bull clique. Neither had they the combined resources at their command, to come in and sup-port stocks on the declining market.

Following yesterday's sharp slump there was a rally of $5919 points in cotton futures this morning, with trading active and general. Evidences of a better feeling in the Liverpool market sent shorts to cover early in the session, which, with buying orders from Liverpool and the South, sent prices up almost as fast as they fell yesterday. The opening of the market was steady, with initial sales 2024 points over the final figures of last night. By midday the buil crowd had scored an advance of 7 to 10 points. In the afternoon prices sagged off several points, under a bearish interpretation of the weekly government weather report, and some realizing by smaller buils. Trading fell off considerably, but picked up near the close, The market finished the day steady, with a net gain of 2 to 4 points.

XANTHINE,

ANTHINE,

PROF. HERTZ'S GREAT GERMAN HAIR RESTORATIVE, is the best preparation for the hair in use. It is not a dye. It is essentially a toilet article, which, by invigorating the roots of the hair, restores gray hair to its natural color, produces a rapid and iuxuriant growth, causes the hair to grow on thin and bald places, eradicates dandruff, and renders the hair glossy and pliable. Harmless, effective, pleasant. Testimonials of the highest class.
